DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's remarks filed 1/20/04 have been entered and carefully considered. Applicant's arguments are not found persuasive of patentability for reasons set forth herein below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 14, 16, 18, 20, 22-23, 25-26, and 28-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Groten et al (5899785) in view of Fujiwara et al (6090730), as set forth in the previous rejection.

Applicant argues that Groten fails to teach a water-jet prebonding and merely teaches crimping. However, it is the examiner's position that this process is pre-bonding according to the meaning of applicant's claims. Groten teaches splitting and inducing crimp by a water-jet treatment. This splitting and crimping causes the fibers to become intertwined and locked together. Therefore, the fabric is "pre-bonded."

Applicant argues that there is no reason to combine the references and that the examiner uses hindsight in making the proposed combination. The examiner recognizes that references cannot be arbitrarily combined and that there must be some reason why one skilled in the art would be motivated to make the proposed combination of primary and secondary references. In re Nomiya, 184 USPQ 607 (CCPA 1975).

Art Unit: 1771

However, there is no requirement that a motivation to make the modification be expressly articulated. The test for combining references is what the combination of disclosures taken as a whole would suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art. In re McLaughlin, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971). References are evaluated by what they suggest to one versed in the art, rather than by their specific disclosures. In re Bozek, 163 USPQ 545 (CCPA) 1969. The motivation, suggestion nor teaching may come explicitly from the statements in the prior art, the knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art, or, in some cases the nature of the problem to be solved. See Dembiczak, 175 F.3d at 999, 50 USPQ2d at 1617. In addition, the teaching, motivation or suggestion may be implicit from the prior art as a whole, rather than expressly stated in the references. See WMS Gaming, Inc. v. International Game Tech., 184 F.3d 1339, 1355, 51 USPQ2d 1385, 1397 (Fed. Cir. 1999). In this case, it is the examiner's position that one having ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to draw the filaments of Groten according to Fujiwara's process bases on the reasonable expectation of improving the hand, softness, and uniformity of Groten's filaments.

4. Claims 15, 17, 19, 21, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Groten et al (5899785) in view of Fujiwara et al (6090730) and Hassenboehler, Jr. et al (5730923), as set forth in the previous rejection.

Applicants traversal of this rejection rests on the arguments set forth above. Said rejection is maintained from the last action.

Art Unit: 1771

5. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Groten et al (5899785) in view of Fujiwara et al (6090730) and Ahmed et al (5866675), as set forth in the previous rejection.

Applicants traversal of this rejection rests on the arguments set forth above. Said rejection is maintained from the last action.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
